Section two

Summary of review and findings

Buckinghamshire New University (BNU) (the university) is an approved education institution (AEI) delivering a range of Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC) programmes. BNU present a major modification of the approved non-medical prescribing (V300) programme for NMC approval.

The community practitioner nurse prescribing - V100 is also in approval and unaffected by this modification.

The current approved V300 programme is delivered part time and can be taken as a short (15-week) or long (30-week) programme. The programme is a blended learning format of 11 taught days and three assessment days incorporating self-directed and directed study. The delivery of the prescribing programme in a blended learning format of 16 days of teaching activity, (inclusive of eight days in person) over 20 weeks delivered part time is unchanged through this modification.

There's a modification of programme structure from a level six 60-credit graduate certificate programme consisting of one 60-credit module to a level six 40-credit graduate certificate programme consisting of two 20-credit modules. The level seven 60-credit post-graduate certificate programme consisting of one 60-credit module is modified to a level seven 40-credit programme consisting of two 20-credit modules.

As part of the proposed modification, practice assessors conduct practical skills assessment in practice learning settings. The practice assessment document (PAD) is revised to include this as part of programme.

BNU deliver the non-medical prescribing (V300) programme at both Uxbridge and High Wycombe campuses.

There's evidence to confirm that BNU is committed to partnership working with stakeholders including people who use services and carers (PUSCs), practice learning partners (PLPs) and students in the development, delivery and evaluation of the programme at both strategic and operational levels.

A change in AEI programme title is proposed to non-medical prescribing level six with the additional title of non-medical prescribing level seven.

One BNU practice learning environment is rated as inadequate from review of Care Quality Commission (CQC) reports. BNU provide evidence of a robust process for communication with PLPs and the NMC exceptional reporting process. Action plans are in place to mitigate against the impact on student learning.

BNU have systems in place to monitor the equality, diversity and inclusion (EDI) of their students, including attainment by ethnicity and disability. The AEI have an EDI framework and governance structure and there are school and programme level action plans to address gaps in attainment.

This modification is undertaken as a desktop review.

The programme is mapped against the Standards for prescribing programmes (SPP) (NMC 2018, updated 2023).

The Standards framework for nursing and midwifery education (SFNME) (NMC, 2018) is met at programme level.

The Standards for student supervision and assessment (SSSA) (NMC 2018, updated 2023) are met at programme level.

The programme modification is recommended to the NMC for approval.

Findings against the standard and requirements

Provide an evaluative summary about the effectiveness of the partnerships between the AEI and their practice learning partners, people who use services, students and any other stakeholders.

There's documentary evidence of continuous stakeholder involvement in the development and ongoing delivery of the programme.

BNU propose changes that seek to improve student accessibility to the non-medical prescribing (V300) qualification. Programme documentation confirms evidence of effective partnership working between the programme team and key stakeholders.

Documentation confirms PLPs are consulted on the proposed changes. PLPs are supportive of these developments to maximise the training opportunities for their staff to become prescribers.

Documentation confirms that PUSCs and students are supportive of the proposed changes. Documentary evidence confirms PUSCs are involved at all stages of the programme including recruitment, development, teaching and evaluation. Further evidence confirms students are positive and supportive of the blended learning format of the programme.

Standard 2: Curriculum

Approved education institutions, together with practice learning partners, must:

- R2.1 ensure programmes comply with the NMC Standards framework for nursing and midwifery education
- R2.2 ensure that all prescribing programmes are designed to fully deliver the competencies set out in the RPS A Competency Framework for all Prescribers, as necessary for safe and effective prescribing practice

 - R2.4.1 stating the general and professional content necessary to meet the programme outcomes
 - R2.4.2 stating the prescribing specific content necessary to meet the programme outcomes
 - R2.4.3 confirming that the programme outcomes can be applied to all parts of the NMC register: the four fields of nursing practice (adult, mental health, learning disabilities and children's nursing); midwifery; and specialist community public health nursing
- R2.5 ensure that the curriculum provides a balance of theory and practice learning, using a range of learning and teaching strategies
- R2.6 ensure technology and simulation opportunities are used effectively and proportionately across the curriculum to support supervision, learning and assessment, and
- R2.7 ensure that programmes delivered in Wales comply with any legislation which supports the use of the Welsh language

R2.3 is met. The modification is a structural programme change from a level six 60-credit graduate certificate programme consisting of one 60-credit module to a level six 40-credit graduate certificate programme consisting of two 20-credit modules. At level seven, a 60-credit post-graduate certificate programme consisting of one 60-credit module is now presented as a 40-credit programme consisting of two 20-credit modules.

Programme outcomes are mapped to the Royal Pharmaceutical Society (RPS) competency framework for all prescribers (RPS, 2021).

The programme has a blended approach to learning and teaching. The current approved programme is delivered part time and can be taken as a short (15-week) or long (30-week) programme. The programme has 11 taught days and three assessment days incorporating self-directed and directed study in a blended learning format. The proposed modification offers the prescribing programme as a blended learning format, 16 days of teaching activity, inclusive of eight days in person over 20 weeks delivered part time.

Practice learning is evidenced through a PAD which is aligned to the RPS competency framework for all prescribers. Students undertake 90 hours of practice learning which is recorded as part of two modules, totalling 45 hours each.

As part of the proposed modification, practice assessors conduct practical skills assessment in the practice learning setting. Documentary evidence confirms BNU's decision remove objective structured clinical examination (OSCE) assessments. Developing bespoke OSCE assessments for students is no longer a viable option due to individual students' clinical areas of expertise. This assessment change builds student confidence allowing for support within their own clinical setting. The PAD is revised to include practical skills assessment as part of the module.

Documentary evidence confirms that BNU provides training and support to all practice assessors undertaking practical skills assessment for students. All practice assessors undertaking practical skills assessment in practice learning setting are supported by the BNU programme team, with in-person visits and supportive meetings using a virtual platform.
